

WHO LOVES A CONNECTING FLIGHT?

Practically no one. Passengers want convenient, direct service to their destination. And at Boeing, we give airlines the flexibility to do just that, profitably. Our family of models and configurations lets you adjust capacity to changing load factors immediately. So you can fly direct and full. Which happens to be the shortest route to passenger satisfaction and operator success.

