

This is the third in a series of advertisements developed to reinforce Boeing's commitment to its partnerships with Japan.

This ad, titled "Waterfall," tells how the Japanese company, Toray, collaborated with Boeing to help develop the revolutionary composite material used in the 787. The Japan-Boeing relationship began more than 50 years ago.